Dispersing a collection as extensive as this posed many logistical problems, not least the catalogue, stumping in the end for a 2 day sale with luscious full colour A4 catalogue - met with almost unanimous rapturous approval?

Astute (disappointed) collectors noted the absence of a number of 'star lots' from the collection which Bacco sold prior, but still much else offered here to lure out/ appease specialists & dealers in a variety of so many fields.

The sale was held live in BBR's saleroom, transmitted live thro' thesaleroom.com allowing bids over the 2 day proceedings, plus video transmitted on BBR's own website (12 second delay), & previewed a full week prior for those unable to attend.

Final results revealed a healthy market for all the better items - some highlights, with add ons, are shown on both sides of these full results - with add ons.

Some copies of the catalogue are still available for future reference - a
