Guinness was good for ALL!

The Guinnessman Collection sale part 2, held in BBR's new salesroom, went down "an absolute storm", concluding the major dispersal, both sales totalling just short of £85,000.

Tin on card showcards (tiny, to large) showed an unexpected strength throughout - 'classic' images/ strong subject matter being vigorously chased, as were some of the 'foreign language' types. "They performed exceptionally well", commented one visitor.

Several online bidders spoke afterwards to us about prices overall being generally higher than recent ebay performances would have indicated prior. Our final analysis would seem to reiterate BBR's proven track record (& adopted slogan) "specialist collections are our speciality."

The lure of copious amounts of draught Guinness & Percy Turner pork pies afterwards perhaps helped draw out a larger, predominantly Irish, band of dedicated devotees - but it certainly went down well.

Let's all raise a glass - "cheers" to Steve Smith. Hopefully we did him proud, certainly his collecting enthusiasm, and cherished possessions, added smiles to very many specialist Guinntique collectors.
